Laurel Museum Hosts A Christmas Carol and an Early Victorian Christmas December 22

Ebenezer Scrooge and an Early Victorian Christmas close out the year for the Laurel Museum December 22. After a short talk on early Victorian Christmas customs, Actor Stephen Mead will perform Dicken's classic 1843 story "A Christmas Carol,"--live from memory. The program begins at 1:30 p.m., and the performance at 2:00. Admission is $10, and since space is limited reservations are suggested. Tickets are available at https://www.laurelhistoricalsociety.org/store/p98/A_Christmas_Carol.html.

Stephen Mead trained as an actor at London's Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. Besides appearing in many stage productions, he has worked as a drama adviser to Goldcrest Films UK and written for Channel4 (TV).Mead recently performed poems of Edgar Allan Poe at the Museum.

The Laurel Museum and Gift Shop will be open for visitors that day from 1-4p.m. December 22 is the also last day to see the current exhibit: "Is There a Doctor in the House? Laurel's Healthcare Stories." Admission to the Museum, located at 817 Main Street, Laurel, MD, is free. For more information visit www.laurelhistoricalsociety.org. 301-725-7975.
