Kevin Leonard, writer of the popular “History Matters” column in the Laurel Leader, presents an expanded view of three of his columns.

Come hear the details and see fascinating images of the Laurel Pop Festival in 1969, which featured some of the biggest acts in rock ‘n roll, the story of Laurel’s Billy the Kid, a 17-year-old who tried to rob the Citizens National Bank in 1911, and the 1954 conversion of Laurel’s telephone system to direct-dial.
